January - Faculty Meeting Training

February - Booth at Student-Led Conferences - answer parent questions about apps and websites that may be unknown by the parent.

March - Netsmartz assembly

Melinda Colton - it's not enough. What else can we do to support safe use of the Internet? Not about taking it away electronics and phones; it's about educating students to be safe when they are using technology.

Heather White - students' personal phones are not filtered, easy to turn off WiFi and have access to Everything. Consider an email blast to the parents to inform them of Apps such as the SafeUT App.

Krista Pippin - self aware of when it's appropriate and when it's not. Phones are helpful to do a quick quiz. Students who don't have a phone are given Chromebooks to use.

Holly Neibaur - It's not about if, but when students see inappropriate images. Let's address what to do WHEN they see something inappropriate. Involve the Student Council - they know what's going on.

Justin Anderson - Provide more resources to them. Make sure we are on the same page as the parents. SafeUT App (Dave Barrett, Megan Gephardt)

Kelli Davey - TBH (To Be Honest), the game is bullying. Are we educating? If we see something, who do they contact?

Vanessa Croshaw - Could we put a BUTTON on the main school website that the students could click on to leave an anonymous tip? Mary said she will put the SafeUT App link on the main site. The app has a place where students. can leave any tip anonymously

Alisa Frost - Mentioned a DPMS student-run Facebook page related to confessions; it was anonymous bullying.

Melinda Colton - A school in Park City that went without ANY phones for 10 days - Would like to see that implemented and have English teachers assign students to write essays on what they learned about their phone addictions.
